

~~"To close this off, I'm tired. I'm tired of being treated inhumanely. I'm sick of this. I'm past the point of feeling sorry for them. They brought this upon themselves. This doc would not be being made right now had their invasive behavior not continued. I won't let them continue to intimidate me into silence. I'm ending this charade once and for all. I have let them roam around without any punishment long enough. They haven't changed. They're the same filthy fucks I knew back in 2022. They just think they're untouchable now. This exists to prove them wrong.~~

~~Sawyer and Kenny, if you're reading this:~~

~~I have no words. I suppose you kept your word—you have not changed a bit. Disappointment is an understatement. You are corrupted to the core. I hope this convinces you to finally do something better with your life. Because while I do want to see you improve and be better people, at the same time the trauma and stress you've brought me has made me wish nothing but for you to fucking rot. The choice is yours now. I don't care what happens to you following this. I'm my own person. It's time you two learnt to be your own people as well. Stop continuing to enable each other and seek some goddamn help. You did this to yourself. I hope you can see that clearly now."~~

...this is where the doc originally would have ended. however, some new events occurred after i finished my original draft that made me decide to go back and update this drive accordingly. please read the upcoming parts carefully.